PREFACE

This magazine chronicles an inspiring journey of leadership, learning, and global engagement through the experiences of Niraj Kumar Singh at the Headquarters of the United Nations in New York. It reflects a path shaped by a steadfast commitment to education, youth empowerment, social justice, and sustainable development. Over the years, his work has bridged local realities with global aspirations, demonstrating how dedicated leadership and meaningful community engagement can contribute to transformative social change. His participation in high-level international conferences, policy dialogues, and multilateral discussions represents not only personal achievement but also a broader commitment to advancing the values embodied in the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). Through these experiences, he has actively engaged with policymakers, diplomats, academics, development practitioners, and youth leaders from across the world, fostering dialogue on some of the most pressing global challenges and opportunities.

Rooted in extensive experience across educational institutions, government agencies, nonprofit organizations, and international academic collaborations, Niraj Kumar Singh's professional journey reflects a multidisciplinary approach to leadership and public service. His work spans the fields of educational equity, youth development, community engagement, social inclusion, public policy, and international cooperation. At the United Nations Headquarters, he contributed to discussions on issues ranging from quality education and youth participation to human rights, social protection, innovation, and sustainable development. Each event, meeting, and collaborative engagement documented in this publication illustrates the importance of collective action, cross-cultural understanding, and evidence-based policymaking in addressing complex global issues. The photographs and narratives featured throughout this magazine capture moments of dialogue, partnership, learning, and shared vision, highlighting the significance of international collaboration in creating lasting social impact.

More than a visual record of participation in prestigious global forums, this magazine serves as a testament to the enduring values of leadership, service, and lifelong learning. It celebrates the opportunities created through international engagement while emphasizing the responsibility of emerging leaders to translate global knowledge into meaningful local action. Every page reflects the belief that positive change begins with individuals who are willing to learn, collaborate, and advocate for a more inclusive and equitable future. It is hoped that this publication will inspire students, researchers, educators, policymakers, and young changemakers to embrace global citizenship, pursue excellence with purpose, and contribute actively to building peaceful, resilient, and sustainable communities. As a collection of memorable experiences and significant milestones at the United Nations Headquarters, this magazine stands as both a celebration of achievement and an invitation for future generations to engage confidently with the world and become catalysts for positive transformation.

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS

The headquarters of the United Nations is located in Midtown Manhattan, New York City, and serves as the center for global diplomacy and international cooperation. Established in 1952, the complex houses major UN bodies such as the General Assembly and the Security Council, where representatives from member nations discuss issues related to peace, development, and human rights.

Known as a symbol of unity among nations, the UN Headquarters hosts important international conferences, meetings, and policy discussions throughout the year. Although situated in the United States, the headquarters functions as an international territory under the administration of the United Nations.

EMPOWERING VOICES BUILDING FUTURES

Serving as a delegate at the first-ever Youth Event convened by the Chair of the UNGA Third Committee at the United Nations Headquarters marked a historic and deeply meaningful experience.

Held on October 10, 2025, in Conference Room 1, the event brought together youth leaders, diplomats, and civil society representatives from across the globe to deliberate on pressing issues such as education, inclusion, social development, and human rights.

SHAPING GLOBAL DIALOGUE AT THE UNGA THIRD COMMITTEE

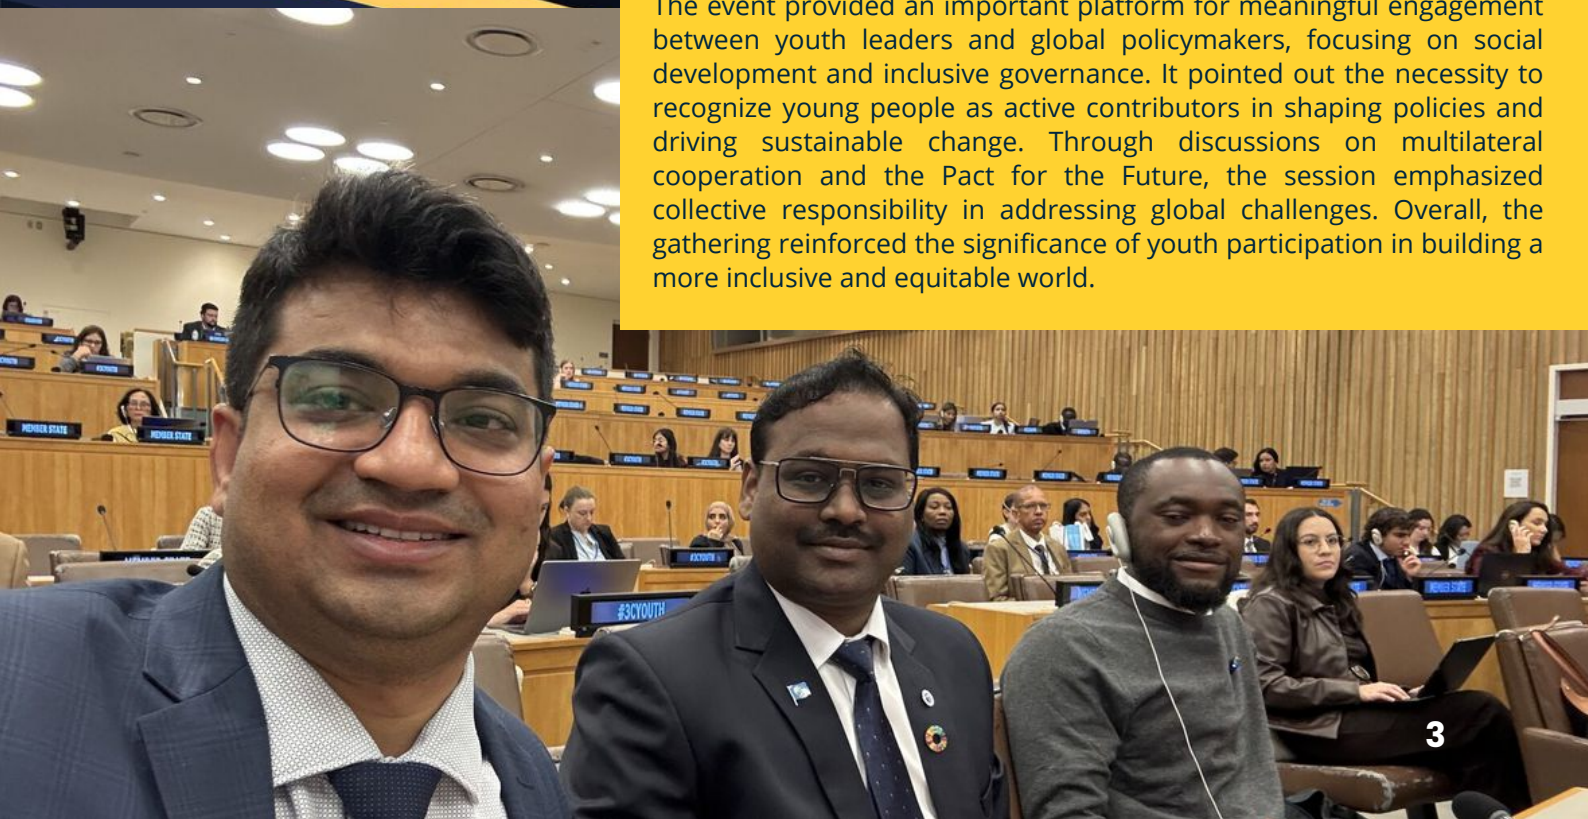

The Youth Event titled “Building Solutions Together for an Inclusive Future” was held on October 10, 2025, at the United Nations Headquarters in New York during the 80th Session of the UN General Assembly. Convened by the Chair of the UNGA Third Committee, the event brought together global youth leaders, diplomats, and UN officials to deliberate on key issues related to social development and the implementation of the Pact for the Future.

The discussions emphasized the evolving role of youth as active contributors in global transformation, highlighting the importance of intergenerational dialogue and collaboration. With a strong focus on inclusion and sustainability, the event reinforced the idea that young people are central to shaping policies and building a more equitable and forward-looking global society.

EVENT OVERVIEW

The event provided an important platform for meaningful engagement between youth leaders and global policymakers, focusing on social development and inclusive governance. It pointed out the necessity to recognize young people as active contributors in shaping policies and driving sustainable change. Through discussions on multilateral cooperation and the Pact for the Future, the session emphasized collective responsibility in addressing global challenges. Overall, the gathering reinforced the significance of youth participation in building a more inclusive and equitable world.

BUILDING SOLUTIONS TOGETHER

FROM DREAMS TO GLOBAL DIALOGUE

The Youth Event convened by the Chair of the UNGA Third Committee brought together global youth leaders, diplomats, and policymakers to engage in meaningful dialogue on inclusion, education, and social development. The session emphasized the critical role of young people in shaping global priorities and addressing pressing challenges such as inequality, digital access, and social justice.

Amid these discussions, the experience reflected a powerful journey from humble beginnings in rural Bihar to participation at one of the world's most prestigious platforms. Early experiences of limited resources but strong aspirations laid the foundation for a deep commitment to education and community empowerment. These formative moments continue to inspire efforts toward making learning accessible and inclusive for all.

YOUTH FOR INCLUSION

Participation in the Youth Event at the United Nations Headquarters marked a significant moment of reflection and achievement, bringing together global leaders and young voices to discuss inclusion, education, and social progress. The experience symbolized a journey from humble beginnings in rural Bihar to engaging in international dialogue, highlighting the transformative power of education and opportunity. It reinforced the belief that youth are vital contributors to shaping a more inclusive and equitable world. 🌟

Eradicating Poverty

Empowering Families

The International Day for the Eradication of Poverty was observed on October 17, 2025, at the United Nations Headquarters in New York, bringing together global delegates, community activists, diplomats, and UN leaders. Centered on the theme “Ensuring Respect and Effective Support for Families,” the event highlighted the crucial role of families in achieving sustainable development and addressing multidimensional poverty.

The discussions emphasized the importance of inclusive policies and grassroots perspectives in advancing the Sustainable Development Goals, particularly poverty eradication, education, healthcare, and social inclusion. Organized by ATD Fourth World, the NGO Committee on Social Development, and UNDESA, the event fostered meaningful dialogue on strengthening global partnerships and ensuring that no one is left behind.

Words of Impact

“True progress begins when we listen to the voices of families and ensure that every individual has the dignity, support, and opportunity to thrive.”

A Journey of Purpose and Progress

The event further highlighted the interconnectedness of the Sustainable Development Goals, particularly the role of education, social protection, and economic opportunities in uplifting vulnerable communities. Through meaningful exchanges and collaborative dialogue, the program reinforced the need for collective global action, strengthening the commitment to building a more inclusive and equitable future for all.

Youth Leadership on the Global Stage

ADVANCING PEACE, POLICY AND PARTICIPATION

Serving as a Youth Delegate at the United Nations Headquarters in New York for the third time marked a significant milestone in global engagement and leadership. The High-Level Stocktaking Event, commemorating the 10th Anniversary of the UN Security Council Resolution, brought together diplomats, policymakers, UN officials, and youth leaders to reflect on progress and future directions in peace and security initiatives.

YOUTH AT THE UN

Youth Leadership: Emphasizing the active role of young people in global decision-making.

02.

Global Dialogue: Engaging with diplomats, policymakers, and UN officials on key issues.

03.

Sustainable Impact: Promoting peace, education, and inclusive development through collective action.

Organized by the UN Youth Office and the United Nations Foundation for Adolescents (UNFA), the program provided a dynamic platform for dialogue and collaboration. Discussions emphasized the importance of youth leadership, quality education, and inclusive policymaking in addressing global challenges. The experience reinforced a strong commitment to evidence-based advocacy and the role of youth as key contributors to sustainable development and global peace.

RIGHTS. JUSTICE. ACTION. FOR ALL WOMEN AND GIRLS

WOMEN'S EMPOWERMENT

Attending the 70th Session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW70) at the United Nations Headquarters in New York marks an important opportunity to engage in global dialogue on gender equality and women's empowerment.

Advancing Gender Equality at the UN

YOUTH LEADERSHIP AND GLOBAL COMMITMENT AT CSW70

The session brings together world leaders, policymakers, youth advocates, and civil society representatives to address key challenges and promote inclusive development. The session brings together world leaders, policymakers, youth advocates, and civil society representatives to address key challenges and promote inclusive development.

The program emphasizes the importance of collaborative action and policy innovation in advancing the rights of women and girls worldwide. It highlights the critical role of youth leadership in driving change and strengthening inclusive, rights-based approaches at both national and international levels.

INSIGHTS FROM CSW70

The session further emphasized the importance of accountability and inclusive participation in achieving gender equality goals. Delegates highlighted the need for stronger institutional frameworks, increased investment in social protection systems, and the active inclusion of women and youth in leadership roles. The conversations reflected a shared global commitment to ensuring that policies are not only designed inclusively but also implemented effectively at all levels.

MARCH 10, 2026

A key takeaway from the discussions was the recognition of education as a transformative tool in empowering women and marginalized communities. Emphasis was placed on expanding access to quality education, promoting digital inclusion, and fostering leadership opportunities that enable individuals to actively participate in social and economic development. These priorities align closely with the broader vision of sustainable and equitable progress.

REFLECTIONS & TAKEAWAYS

Engaging in such a global platform reinforced the importance of collaboration, knowledge exchange, and continuous advocacy in development practice. The experience highlighted that sustainable change is driven by collective efforts that integrate local insights with global strategies, ultimately contributing to a more inclusive, just, and resilient world.

WOMEN-LED DEVELOPMENT IN ACTION

Strengthening Global Partnerships
through South-South Cooperation

Attending the commemorative event on “Women-led Development and South-South Cooperation: Success Stories from the IBSA Fund” at the United Nations Headquarters highlighted the transformative impact of collaborative efforts across the Global South. Organized by the Permanent Missions of India, Brazil, and South Africa, the program brought forward inspiring examples of how women-led initiatives are driving inclusive growth, institutional strength, and sustainable development.

Ending FGM

A Call for Action

Attending the high-level side event on “Accelerating the Path to Protection: Ending Female Genital Mutilation (FGM)” at the United Nations Headquarters highlighted the urgent need for coordinated global efforts. Hosted by the Permanent Mission of Liberia, the session brought together policymakers, experts, and advocates to discuss strategies focused on protection, prevention, and awareness.

The discussions emphasized survivor-centered approaches, legal reform, and community-driven interventions, integrating health, justice, and youth engagement. The session reinforced that ending FGM is not only a public health priority but a fundamental issue of human rights, dignity, and gender equality.

Youth Voices for Sustainable Development

Participating in the ECOSOC Youth Forum 2026 at the United Nations Headquarters was a meaningful opportunity to engage in global discussions focused on advancing the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and strengthening youth participation in decision-making processes. Organized by the United Nations Department of Economic and Social Affairs (UNDESA), the forum brought together youth leaders, policymakers, and international stakeholders from across the world to exchange ideas on inclusion, innovation, equity, and sustainable development.

ECOSOC Youth Forum 2026 at the United Nations

The experience provided a valuable platform to connect with young changemakers and contribute to conversations addressing shared global challenges. With more than a decade of experience in youth development initiatives across India and South Asia, including collaboration with the Ministry of Youth Affairs, participation in the forum further reinforced a strong commitment to education, youth empowerment, and international development. The event highlighted the importance of amplifying youth voices and fostering global collaboration to build a more inclusive and sustainable future.

HONORING THE LEGACY OF DR. B. R. AMBEDKAR AT THE UNITED NATIONS

Attending the commemoration of the 135th Birth Anniversary of Dr. B. R. Ambedkar at the United Nations Headquarters in New York was a deeply meaningful and inspiring experience. Hosted by the Permanent Mission of India to the United Nations, the event titled “Dr. B. R. Ambedkar’s Vision of Constitutional Morality and its Relevance for Multilateralism” brought together diplomats, scholars, and global participants to reflect on the enduring relevance of Babasaheb Ambedkar’s ideals in promoting justice, equality, liberty, and fraternity across societies.

The discussions highlighted the continued importance of constitutional morality in strengthening democratic institutions, protecting human rights, and advancing inclusive governance at both national and international levels. Through keynote addresses, lectures, and interactive discussions, the program emphasized how Dr. Ambedkar’s vision remains highly relevant in addressing contemporary global challenges and fostering multilateral cooperation. The experience served as a powerful reminder of the transformative role of education, social justice, and inclusive policymaking in building a more equitable world.

Constitutional Morality and Global Multilateralism

The commemoration of the 135th Birth Anniversary of Dr. B. R. Ambedkar at the United Nations Headquarters highlighted the enduring relevance of his vision of constitutional morality in today's global society. The event emphasized the values of justice, equality, liberty, and fraternity, reinforcing the importance of inclusive governance, human rights, and multilateral cooperation in building a more equitable and democratic world.

Attending the inauguration of the special exhibition “From Shunya to Ananta (Zero to Infinity): The Indian Civilisation’s Contribution to Mathematics” at the United Nations Headquarters in New York was a truly inspiring experience. Organized by the Permanent Mission of India to the United Nations and inaugurated by India’s External Affairs Minister, S. Jaishankar, the exhibition highlighted India’s extraordinary contributions to the field of mathematics and its lasting influence on global scientific and intellectual progress.

FROM SHUNYA TO ANANTA: INDIA’S MATHEMATICAL LEGACY AT THE UNITED NATIONS

The exhibition beautifully showcased the journey of Indian mathematical thought from the invention of Shunya (Zero) to concepts that continue to shape modern science, technology, and innovation. The event reflected the power of knowledge, culture, and diplomacy in strengthening global understanding and celebrating India’s rich intellectual heritage on an international platform.

FROM PROTECTION TO POWER: ADVANCING JUSTICE FOR ADOLESCENT GIRLS

Attending the high-level side event “From Protection to Power: Advancing Justice for Adolescent Girls to End Child Marriage” during the 70th Session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW70) at UNICEF House, New York, was a meaningful opportunity to engage in critical global dialogue on girls’ rights and empowerment. Co-organized by UNICEF and UNFPA, and co-hosted by the Governments of Canada, the United Kingdom, Zambia, and Malawi, the session brought together ministers, ambassadors, UN leaders, and global advocates committed to ending child marriage and advancing justice for adolescent girls.

The discussions emphasized the importance of moving beyond protection-focused approaches toward power-centered, rights-based frameworks that promote education, leadership, legal protection, and economic empowerment for girls. The event highlighted the need for collective global action, sustainable investment, and community-driven solutions to ensure that adolescent girls are empowered to lead safe, equal, and dignified lives.

Advancing Women, Peace, and Security at CSW70

During the 70th Session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW70) at the United Nations, global leaders, policymakers, and peacebuilders gathered to discuss strategies for advancing gender equality and strengthening women's rights worldwide. A significant side event organized by the Austrian delegation in collaboration with the Global Network of Women Peacebuilders highlighted the critical role of local women's organizations in promoting peace, stability, and humanitarian action across communities.

The discussions brought together peacebuilders from Papua New Guinea, Nepal, and the Philippines, along with representatives from international organizations working in women, peace, and security initiatives. The session emphasized that empowering grassroots women leaders and supporting local peacebuilding efforts are essential for achieving long-term peace, inclusive governance, and sustainable development across the world.

STRENGTHENING ACCESS TO JUSTICE FOR WOMEN AND GIRLS AT CSW70

Attending the side event “Ensuring and Strengthening Access to Justice for All Women and Girls Across the Justice Continuum” during CSW70 at the United Nations Headquarters in New York provided an important opportunity to engage in global dialogue on gender-responsive justice systems and inclusive governance. Convened by Enrique Manalo and co-sponsoring Member States, the session brought together diplomats, policymakers, and international stakeholders committed to advancing equitable access to justice for women and girls worldwide.

The discussions emphasized a comprehensive rights-based approach across the justice continuum, focusing on prevention, protection, accountability, remedy, and reintegration in alignment with international human rights commitments and the Sustainable Development Goals.

The opportunity to briefly engage with Ambassador Manalo further reinforced the importance of multilateral cooperation and strong institutional frameworks in promoting gender equality, human rights, and inclusive justice systems globally.

Acknowledgement

I express my sincere gratitude to the United Nations, its officials and staff, government representatives, ambassadors, diplomats, nonprofit and civil society leaders, youth leaders, organizers, speakers, and fellow delegates whose dedication made these events meaningful and inspiring.

It has been a great privilege to participate in programs and discussions at the United Nations Headquarters, New York, including the 80th Session of the United Nations General Assembly (UNGA 80), ECOSOC Youth Forum 2026, the 70th Session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW70), the Peacebuilding Commission Meeting, the High-Level Stocktaking Event, "From Sunya to Ananta", the 135th Birth Anniversary Commemoration of Dr. B. R. Ambedkar, and the "We Want Model United Nations" lecture.

These experiences have deepened my understanding of global governance, sustainable development, peacebuilding, gender equality, youth leadership, and international cooperation. The opportunity to learn from distinguished leaders and engage with participants from around the world has strengthened my commitment to the values and principles of the United Nations. I extend my heartfelt appreciation to everyone who contributed to these enriching experiences. The knowledge, inspiration, and global connections gained through these engagements will continue to guide my efforts toward promoting peace, human dignity, inclusive leadership, and the Sustainable Development Goals for the benefit of communities locally and globally.

With sincere gratitude,

Niraj Kumar Singh
